11/9	 Meet Protectors Lucky and Birdie! <small>DOO THE RIGHT THING</small>	You may think leaving your dog's poo in the grass on walks is not a big deal. However, it can overwhelm our ecosystem. Generally speaking, an ecosystem can handle up to 2 dogs per square mile. In urban areas, there is an average of 125 dogs per square mile. That's a lot of dogs, and potentially a lot of poo to pollute our waterways! Learn about the dangers of leaving pet waste behind while on walks at dfwstormwater.com/petwaste. Meet Protectors Lucky and Birdie! Happy Thanksgiving! Thank you to those who always pick up after their dog(s)! If you leave dog waste behind, it can get washed into our lakes, rivers, and streams through stormwater runoff. This contributes to a risk of transmitting diseases. To learn more on why it's important to pick up after your dog, go to dfwstormwater.com/petwaste.
